

FAASTeam presents:

Survival for General Aviation Pilots; A part of the WINGS Proficiency Day

Roger Storey will present an overview of aircraft survival. As the popularity of aviation as a career and as a hobby increases, so does the concern for safety. One such concern is survival after a crash. What is the most important piece of equipment to have in a survival situation?

In any survival situation, there will be specific priorities. The priorities will include medical first-aid, shelter from the elements, rest, water, and food. The order of importance you place on each of these priorities will be dictated by each situation. For instance, the priorities for a pilot forced into a survival situation in rural Missouri during the month of August will vary from a pilot who has to survive in Northern Michigan during January. One thing is for certain, without a "will to survive," there can be no survival. If you do not have a desire to survive, there is no equipment made that will help you survive.

Gates open at 7am with this seminar beginning at 12pm. Food and drink, to include early breakfast, will be available via catering by Granville's Gourmet Ribs and Barbecue throughout the day.

Directions: Seminars and vendors will be in Signature's large hangar, north end of ramp. Driving to HSV airport, follow signs to General Aviation. Other signs/personnel will direct you to parking on the ramp adjacent to the large hangar.
